'MORE TIME SKIING AND LESS TIME QUEUING'

---

If you're after a ski resort off the beaten track, with few queues and modern facilities, then Sierra Nevada is ideal.

Sierra Nevada's location as the most southernly ski resort in Spain means year-round sunshine and generally clear conditions throughout the day. Yet, owing to a base elevation of 2,100m, snow is almost a certainty in the Sierra Nevada, with the season typically running from late November to May.

Spain flies under the radar as a ski destination. But that's what makes it a brilliant choice for school groups. Compared to the French Alps, which are busy every day of the season, resorts like Sierra Nevada are much quieter – there are fewer tourists and locals only tend to visit on the weekend. For you, that means more time skiing and less time queuing.

Plus, a school ski trip to Sierra Nevada is not just about winter sports. You can also take the opportunity to experience the Andalusian culture. Add on a visit to Granada to see the Alhambra Palace, experience a flamenco show, and sample authentic local tapas.

THE SKIING

Sierra Nevada boasts over 100 kilometres of skiable terrain, catering to all skill levels. The resort's state-of-the-art lift system ensures quick and easy access to a variety of runs, from gentle beginner slopes to challenging trails for advanced skiers. While excellent snow conditions can be expected throughout the season, there is an arsenal of 390 snow cannons to supplement the slopes, should they be needed in the Andalusian sunshine.

Borreguiles serves as the main hub for skiers at Sierra Nevada. At the centre is a ski bowl with wide, gentle slopes that are perfect for those new to the sport, with several magic carpets and easy chairlifts. As confidence builds, skiers can progress to longer blue runs that offer stunning panoramic views and, at the end of the day, ski all of the way back down to Pradollano.

For more experienced skiers, there's a huge range of blues, reds and blacks starting from the Veleta Peak and circling the entire resort. There are so many options that your group can spend the entire week trying out different descent paths from Veleta, Spain's third highest peak at 3,398m. No matter which route you take, you can expect breathtaking views of both the Mediterranean and Africa from the summit, along with perfectly maintained pistes throughout.
